This large scale diptych painting expresses the overlaid layers of life that comprise landscape. Animal and geological forms are embedded into the surfaces of these paintings. Based on scientific research revealing that the highest altitudes and the oceans are warming at a faster rate than other areas of the planet. The chaotic striation of these paintings expresses the sense that the floor and ceiling are closing in on us.

$9,500

This painting is inspired by research done in the coastal forests of Big Sur, CA. The many layers of time and life are represented in the many layers of media that make up the surface of the painting. The white clouds represent both the residue of smoke that lingers after devastating wildfires and the life-giving fog that protects the forests from them.

Murmuration and Wildfire Smoke (Series 1 - 6)

2023, Acrylic on canvas, 36" x 24"

$3,900

This series depicts the undulating, graceful movements of birds in murmuration against the backdrop of wildfire smoke. Each painting directly references real life murmuration forms and imagery of smoke-filled skies from wildfires across North America.

Evaporating like forgetting

Entangled and Ensnared are non-identical mirror images representing aquatic bodies entangled/ensnared in ghost nets—deadly, plastic bi-products of industrial fishing. They were made with many layers of glazing that hold light and mimic the luminosity of water. Intricate line work contrasts with deeper areas of light and dark, creating a tension between surface and depth.
